"Gobs, huh, soldier? Well, let's see you doughboys match our sea-legs, even on dry land." The navy joins the Legion's Armistice Day parade.

ARMISTICE DAY TENS OF THOUSANDS JOIN ROUTE OF PARADE

Little girls walked the four miles from Roxbury Park square on the largest crowd, while other thousands marched along the reviewing stand for city guests at City Hall and the Boston state island of General John A. Agnew, chief marshal of the parade.

AGNEW SOUNDS 'FORWARD'

Shortly after 10 o'clock the long line of veterans, ladies auxiliaries and children's organizations started the march at command of General Agnew.

Directly behind him came General Daniel A. Newham, World War hero and recent head of the State Department of public safety. With him was his executive as head of the state police forces, Lieutenant Colonel Paul K. Edwards.

DEUM CORPS OF GIRLS

Another hit was the Junior corps of Cambridge Post, L., an organization of drum-equipped little girls in charge of four drum majors in colorful dress. The ladies auxiliary of Roxbury Post and the war nurses post named for Brian Edwards, daughter of the late General Clarence L. Edwards, Duddy of the 2D, were other colorful units.

CHEER GOLD STAR MOTHERS

Gold Star mothers who rode in open cars, were cheered along the way. Other units in the parade were the Duxbury High School, Dorchester Post veterans, who were in new uniforms, and the Point out; Irving W. Adams Post of Roslindale, whose drum major rode on a snow white charger; and Alexander Graham Bell Post band, led by Dot Blinn of Waltham, national champion in the Legion choir for drum major.

Mayor Mansfield and a score of his guests reviewed the march at City Hall. Governor Wyman, who was dedicated after another colorful parade in the State House review stand. He was represented by Colonel Edward Sampson.

HALT IS IMPRESSIVE

Observers cited the halt as the most impressive since the signing that halted bloodshed 12 years ago.

BORAH TO ARE RELIEF WASTE

Sterilization Is Newest Purge For Nazis

By Associated Press

Berlin, Nov. 12.—Germany's sterilization program marks the "new beginnings" of a "purge" of the nation, a Nazi party bulletin told citizens today.

Dr. Von Helldorf of the Danzig municipal offices disclosed that even the "slightly feeble-minded" are to be included in the program.

By sterilization and emasculation Nazi leaders hope to eliminate the mentally and physically unfit from future generations. The sterilization law has been in effect since January 1.

Two professors of the Roman Catholic Academy at Braunsberg, have been dismissed after delivering an opinion that sterilization is not incompatible with Catholicism. Orders for their dismissal, it was said, came from Rome.

CONGRESS FIGHTS AGAINST DENIES BONUS, TAX

By International News Service

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Roosevelt was the first witness as early as the 74th Congress by inflationary bonds and other "blobs," it appeared today.

Although the election was generally construed as a personal endorsement of the President's policy, the ultra-progressives have already declared plans to push legislation forward upon by the White House in the house.

The battle for cash payment of the soldier's $23,000,000 bonus may be the first. Representative Purnell (D., Texas), already has introduced a bill which will be labeled "No. 1" in the House. Bonnaventures are expected to develop in the near future.

Complete renunciation of silver, creation of a central bank to issue all money.

Enactment of a mandatory 30-hour work law, with exceptions. A so-called rich plan of taxation, based on the present high inheritance and income taxes.

A new CWA plan, with funds enough to provide jobs for all unemployed.

When it was first discussed your holdings with Mr. Insull? The summer of 1933, said Eaton, "at a luncheon at the Chicago club."

INSULLS ARE RECALLED

"I told Mr. Insull that I had learned rumors were coming to him that our purchases were designed to get influence in the situation," Eaton said. "I sought to assure him that that was not the case."

In May, 1933, Eaton and his associates approached Insull with a new proposal, Eaton said. It was a new company, along with some provided by the management of the new concern.

Eaton said that at his age he didn't want to take on this burden.

Then Insull made the first overture toward buying the Eaton holding, the witness testified.

"He said if my main objective was to get some cash, his companies would buy our holdings. I asked him how much he would pay and he replied promptly, he would pay $350 a share."

DEAL WAS NOT CLOSED

"I told him what money preferred not to sell," Eaton said. "But if he was firm, I would be joining us, we would sell at $400 a share."

The deal was not closed then, he said, Insull standing by his word.

Three weeks later, Eaton said, he came to Chicago and completed the deal. Insull refused a commission of $750 a share and the two settled down to compute exactly how much cash the deal would bring.

"You took what cash was needed," said Attorney Thompson.

"Yes," said Eaton. "I took some cash, less than I was tempted, but we were anxious to go along with the Insull enterprise."

The money—it came to $600,000—was to be paid in 60 days in stock of the two Insull investment trusts. The price for the deal was $55 a share for Insull Investment, Inc., and $25 a share for the stock of the Corporation Securities Co.

President Must Stand Firm Against Financial Waste and Trickery, Says R. W. Child

By RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD

Noted Author and Former United States Ambassador in Italy

The audit of the government's extraordinary expenditures published in the Boston Sunday Advertiser is startling enough to make the whole country RALLY TO THE SUPPORT OF THE PRESIDENT.

It is assumed that the next Congress will have elements PUSHING FOR MORE AND MORE EXPENDITURE. OUTSIDE THE RUMOR MILL, THE PRESIDENT MUST STAND FIRM AGAINST ALL WASTE AND TRICK PLAYS.

THE NATION WILL BACK HIM UP.

Already the interest charges of Uncle Sam's debt are now greater than his total expenditures of government.

Already the extraordinary expenditures are more than two and a half times the total income from taxation.

GLARING INEQUALITIES

Of course assaults will be made upon this FIRST COMPREHENSIVE CHART OF THE FACTS AND FIGURES PUBLISHED BY THE PRESIDENT.

It will be said no doubt that the uneven, unfair and inequitable burden of taxation as between different sections of the nation are a little exaggerated by the fact that corporations pay more income taxes in certain states regardless of where they do business.

Of course! Yes! Yes! BUT THE GLARING SECTIONAL INEQUALITIES ARE THERE JUST THE SAME—SENSATIONALLY PRESENT!

It will be said (although the RPT joins are excluded from the figures) that much of the money shown as extraordinary expense outside the cost of government is really LOADED money!

WELL, ANY GOVERNMENT AUTHORITY TELLS THE PEOPLE THAT ANY ADMINISTRATION CAN EVER COLLECT THE TAXES. IT IS POSSIBLE TO PORCELOUSE OR SOB THE MILLIONS OF "BORROWERS."

GIFTS ALLOWED

It will be said perhaps that public works expenditures will be self-liquidating.

BUT EVEN THE ACT ITSELF ALLOWS GIFTS OF ABOUT THIRTY PER CENT OF THE COST OF PUBLIC WORKS TO THE PRIVATE PWA authority, and these gifts ARE BEING MADE!

No one who takes seriously "off the record" expects the bulk of the money to be paid back to Uncle Sam.

He said that the figures of expenditure are exaggerated.

NO! These figures include only

JOHN REED LOST RED IDEALS AT END

By Universal Service

The "friendship of the proletariat is nothing more or less than a power based upon force and limited to nothing—by no kind of law and by absolutely no rule."

Lenin, complete works Volume 18, Page 361.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—John Reed, American radical whose body lies in a place of honor in the Kremlin in Moscow and whose name had been taken by hundreds of Communist organizations in this country, was no longer a Communist when he was ill with typhus in Russia in 1920.

This startling statement is made by Jacob H. Rubin of Milwaukee, in his book, "I Love to Talk," just off the press.

ESCAPED FROM DEATH

Rubin himself once was sentenced to death in Odessa, and was thrown into prison. He has just returned from Russia following his arrest for insulting a Communist official. He escaped the death sentence when the rails altered Odessa and freed all prisoners.

Many of Rubin's prison mates became leaders in the establishment of the Bolshevik government in the Ukraine. Rubin acting as their counselor.

Rubin had known Reed in this country and often visited him. Recalling one of their conversations, he quotes Reed as saying:

"I had to speak out. My God, you don't know what that means. There is no freedom here, no justice, no opportunity, not even enough bread for the masses, and no hope. I am heartily, horribly disillusioned."

CALLED LEADERS FOOLS

"What have I gained, Rubini? I sacrificed my friends, my family, myself, and for what? At the people any better off than in the United States? No! Has Communism accomplished anything? No!"

"I was a Socialist all my life. I still am, in theory. But I see now that in the world that is, human beings—will not be ready for Socialism for thousands of years. Look at your Communist leaders and what they do when they are in power!"

"Except for Lenin and Trotsky and a few others, they are grafters, politicians, theorists and hopeless fools."

16 Years After

By Universal Service

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12—Silent prayer at the tomb of the unknown soldier was the principle part of the Armistice Day observance of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

As they turned quietly from the tomb, Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., new national commander of the American Legion, stepped to the rostrum of the amphitheater with a ringing appeal to the fighters of 1918 to enter a new war to preserve Americanism. Commander Belgrano pleaded for adequate national defense as insurance against war. He also asked a guard against activities of Reds in this country.

Pershing—Ill in Bed

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Ill, General John J. Pershing, commander of the war time American Expeditionary Force, was unable to attend the Paris Armistice Day ceremonies. He was confined to his suite at the Hotel Crillon with a mild attack of bronchitis. He was able to give a short interview over the telephone. He told reporters, "It is nothing serious but the doctor told me to stay in bed."

France—Riots

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Violent Royalist and Communist demonstrations marked the nationwide observance of Armistice Day in France. Several police inspectors were beaten by Communists in a demonstration at the Place de la Bastille here. Hundreds of Royalists, many before the Hotel de Paris, demanded that former Premier Herriot be executed. They were dispersed by police after many had been beaten. Fifty thousand took part in services honoring war dead at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Germany—Troops

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Germany denied that France has bases for fear that the Reich has intentions of fighting for the valley, which France threatens to police for the coming plebiscite on whether the district shall be a part of France or of Germany. French charges that Reich army troops and many elite organizations really are groups prepared to be mobilized for war at short notice. No, says Germany to this, despite reviewing of troops.

Russia—Bread

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—No country has more cause to love its army than we have for loving our Red Army. Soviet President Mikhail Kalinin said in a speech on Armistice Day. He hinted that the Soviet government hopes soon to abandon the system of bread ration cards and start the distribution of bread on a commercial basis. Reviewing a year's progress of the country, Kalinin said that recent negotiations with foreign countries have greatly increased the strength of Russia.

Italy—Vigilant

ROME, Nov. 12.—Without rattling the saber of war, Italy spent a quiet Armistice Day honoring its war dead. Premier Mussolini made several addresses, all devoted to Italy's heroes. Crowds gathered at ceremonies in practically every city and town throughout the nation. Nevertheless, Italy's well trained army is still in such mobile shape that thousands of men can be moved toward the borders with little advance notice.

England—Mourning

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Wearing fighting kilts, King George and two sons, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, led England's observance of Armistice Day at the cenotaph in Whitehall, London, to the empire's million war dead. The king wore the service khaki dress of a field marshal. Throughout the night and day, mourning crowds walked slowly past the cenotaph. Prime Minister MacDonald headed the civilian list. After him came his cabinet members and the diplomats from other lands.

Turkey Hash

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The Ladies' Memorial Association announced today that turkey hash would be served President Roosevelt when he breakfasts November 17 at the Hermitage, once the home of President Andrew Jackson. There will be other things, but the association said turkey hash, of which President Jackson was reputedly very fond on chili autumn mornings, will be the main course. The other things include scrambled eggs, molasses, hominy, beaten biscuit and coffee.

Fine $2500 Homes At $5 a Week

Plan by U.S.

HARRIMAN SAYS PROJECT GIVE 3,000,000 JOBS

Modern homes which working men will be able to buy on payments smaller than they now have to pay for their furniture, will be the next development in government housing.

A five-room house, on two acres of land, with a metal sink, a radio and an electric clock, will cost only $2500 under this plan. And the payments, of $5 a week, will be distributed over 10 or 15 years.

Henry L. Harriman, president of the United Chamber of Commerce and a member of the advisory board for the new Federal Housing Commission, said the new development will provide work for 3,000,000 men and will and the depreciation in the building trade.

Legislation for the new project will be put forward in the next Congress, he said, with the hope that the government will build 75,000 homes each year for the next 10 years.

New $400 Auto

Harriman also revealed that a large motor car manufacturer is planning to build a working model auto next year to sell for $400 and which will make 35 to 40 miles an hour on a gallon of gasoline.

The new home sites will have to be built near enough to the cities so that men will be able to get to work easily, but far enough out so that there will be ample room for all.

While the project will doubtless result in removing many families from slum districts, it is not primarily a slum clearance plan.

It is expected more than 300,000 such houses have already been built in the United States. The total project will run into figures of dollars, but Harriman explained that a large part of the financing would be done by private funds through the plan.

Harriman said he had already received the endorsement of Governor James M. Curley for the plan.

Stork Again? Mrs. Dionne Indignant

QUINTS' MOTHER SPIKES RUMOR OF ANOTHER

By Associated Press
Callander, Ont., Nov. 12.—In their first formal interview, Mrs. Dionne Quinte, mother of the famous quintuplets, said today the odds would be even for another.

Following a report that she wanted the five girls to become nuns when they grew up, Dionne said it was foolish to look so far ahead, and that "It will be time enough to think about that in another 20 years. But, whatever they do, it will be of their own accord."

The Dionnes said they had received thousands of messages and gifts since the children were born May 28 and at first tried to acknowledge them, but were forced to give up the task as hopeless. They took occasion to deny rumors that Mrs. Dionne was soon to give birth to another child.

"We think it the most unfair of all the rumors which have been circulated about us," the 24-year-old mother said. "The rumor of a new baby is a scrap book on their babies and expressed satisfaction with the children's progress."

League—For Britain

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, ENGLAND, Nov. 12.—The League of Nations still is the basis of Great Britain's foreign policy, said Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, said in an address here. He admitted the League of Nations could not be complete until its membership was universal. He pleaded that Britain be adequately armed, saying western nations "constitute a temptation to the predatory instincts of others." He said the Geneva institution is a powerful peace instrument.

DEADLIER THAN WAR!

Autos Kill 10,940 Here Since 1918

When the order to cease firing was flashed across the front line in France on Armistice Day, 16 years ago, Massachusetts had lost 5771 of its sons in the World War.

Today the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety said that 10,940 persons have lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents in this state since 1918.

The announcement stated that state's armed forces in the last war.

Hollywood, Nov. 12.—It's all off between Lorena Layson, pretty screen actress, and wealthy Danny Danker, Hollywood's soap magnate.

The young former Miami, Fla., girl has decided for a screen career as a 4 against 1 odds. She was learned to swim in a 1919, and turned the dazzling square-cut diamond that she had inherited from her father, once described as "the slavic bacchante."

Their wedding had been set for October 26, Danker explained. "It was either her screen career or our marriage. She's a grand girl, and we're still very fond of each other."

Miss Layson was divorced from Leonard W. Layson, a musician, February 6, 1932. A year later she was one of 13 young actresses selected by Jack L. Warner, Warner Brothers-First National, Production chief, as "junior stars."

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Constance Talmadge Nether really couldn't say, as a true Californian, that she prefers Chicago's climate to Hollywood's.

And so she said when she arrived with her husband, Townsend Nether, to spend the winter here. That she likes it Chicago's atmosphere better.

Constance said she was a famous film star, who retired from pictures in 1928, and married Nether, a real estate man, in 1930. She is going to settle down as a housewife.

"I would rather live in Chicago than Hollywood. I have some of the loveliest friends here. And I hope that my husband's business makes it necessary for us to stay here."

Nether was too busy getting ready for a football game to talk long, but he said, with emphasis when asked if Constance might ever resume her movie career: "Not a chance. We are happy just as we are."

MAN WANTED IN THEFT FLED, HID IN WOODS

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Nicholas A. Schwall, absconding cashier of the First National Bank of Wilmette, northern suburb of Chicago, heard in the Waukegan, Ill., jail for the first time today that his mother, Mrs. Mary Schwall, 74, had died last April.

He learned the news from his two brothers, Joseph and Andrew, when they visited the man who is being held for taking $56,000 from the closed bank, will ask for leniency on the ground that he was only 21 when he was arrested, and a half year ago.

Schwall's wife and two-year-old daughter, Margaret, unborn when he fled after losing, as he says, the bank's money in Insull investments, are both ill, and unable to call on him.

Schwall will be arraigned in federal court today. Melvin B. Ericson, receiver for the closed bank, will ask for leniency on the ground that Schwall has promised to assist in straightening the bank's affairs.

Schwall's gnarled hands told conviction to his tale of having lived a rough life, by manual labor, during his self-exile in the Wisconsin north woods. He said: "No price I will be called upon to pay can carry the torture and misery of those long days and nights when I was alone in the woods, nothing but my regrets. As I realize it now, taking the money wasn't half as bad as my isolation, as a result of my dear ones. I worked hard, anything to take my mind off things."

Los Angeles, Nov. 12.—Jack Oakie, who says he "gets a kick out of this crazy world," laid down a set of rules on how he did it today and then decided "it was mostly all relative anyway—and I don't mean comics or movies."

"We might put Rule No. 1 this way," he said: "Keep your enthusiasm for living. Go after everything you do with everything you do, let yourself get bored."

"Rule No. 2: Don't take yourself too seriously. After all, you're not so much, you know."

"Rule No. 3: Don't take anyone too seriously. The world is full of folks who have yet bluffed it on you."

"The Fourth Rule: Don't worry. It may be odd, but it's still good."

"The Fifth: Don't spend your time in regrets over mistakes you've made or things that went wrong."

"Sixth: We say for Rule No. 6: Don't try to steer clear of gloomy people. Cheer 'em up!"

Boston Wants No War

All Voice Hopes for Peace---But

"There's but the twinkling of a star between a man of peace and a man of war," said the sagacious Samuel Butler some hundreds of years ago.

And today, on this solemn anniversary of that deliciously mad occasion 18 years ago when the warring nations of the world called armistice to strife, men and women in Boston's historic Commons were thoughtfully voicing these same sentiments.

Asked by the Boston Evening American's Inquiring Reporter if, in their opinion, there seemed likelihood of another world conflict, the persons queried answered individually and unanimously:

"I hope not but—"

MAJOR EDWIN H. COOPER of Glastonbury, Conn., who saw service with the 26th Division's Signal Corps, was probably the most articulate. He said:

"War, reduced to its lowest common denominator, is 120 hours of ceaseless, uninspired drudgery, as against one hour of spine-jangling, over-the-top warfare."

"That's precisely why men who have been in the war are the world's greatest pacifists today. Unfortunately, however, they have nothing to say about whether or when there'll be war—it's the unbelieved politicians and the blooded munitions lords who say when. Even war is much too good for them."

"But your question was, will there be another war. And my answer is, as long as there is human nature there will be war."

MRS. RALPH A. LEHAN, 65 Sycamore avenue, Brockton, whose husband was an overseas veteran, is another who doubts that you can depend on so-called human beings acting for the best in a crisis. She said:

"Nations are like human beings. Let me give you an instance."

MRS. RALPH A. LEHAN

Two men are walking down the street. One bumps into the other. If the latter apologizes in time, all is forgiven and the bumping goes on his way mollified. However, if the bumper is slow with the "Beg your pardon," there are words, blows, perhaps. Wars start the same way.

"It's too bad nations are not trained to count ten before engaging in war."

A young mother, MRS. LENA FENEALTY, 45 Shawmut street, Chelsea, whose husband was a nine-year-old boy at the time of the first Armistice Day, didn't think his was "wise enough to discuss such a big subject." However, she did say that:

"All I have heard about war makes me certain that there isn't a constructive result from it ever."

"Lives are so much more important than little scraps of territory."

Heller President of Hebrew Groups

Nathan A. Heller, former member of the transit commission, was elected president of the Associated Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Associations of New England, at the end of a two day convention.

Harry S. Mann, of Chelsea, was elected first vice-president. Mrs. Herman Federbols of Lawrence, and David L. Winer of Lynn, were elected vice-presidents, and Governor's Counselor Joseph B. Grossman, of Quincy, treasurer. Miss Esther Blovin, of Revere, was selected as secretary.

ritory on a map, but the men who make wars don't seem to realize that. Perhaps they would if they had to go to the front themselves."

MISS MARY FRANCIS McINTYRE, 33 Water street, Hyde

"If only young men could know before it is too late that war is indeed the hell Sherman termed it and not the glamorous adventure they unthinkingly continue to believe it through the centuries."

The non-bitter side of a hand, the lure of strange places, the temptation of a trig uniform—and all the wisdom of the sages is lost upon the youth of the land who would—and will—march on to battle."

In the words of MICHAEL J. SHERRY, 24 Richardson street, Woburn, World War veteran and substitute letter-carrier:

GLORIA COURT BATTLE NOW NEARING ITS CLIMAX

By Universal Service
New York, Nov. 12.—With the end of her fight for custody of her own child not far off, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt rested quietly during the week-end at home, seeing none but her lawyer, Nathan Durban.

There witnesses remain to be called in the trial—the lovely young widow herself, Elbridge W. Stein, handwriting expert and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, Mrs. Vanderbilt's sister. Mrs. Thaw, Lady Furness, another sister, and Harry Hays Morgan, Mrs. Vanderbilt's brother, remain at Vanderbilt home, while Prince Johnnie, who came here to testify in Mrs. Vanderbilt's behalf, is on the way back to Europe with his wife.

Attorney Durban explained: "The family has been assailed from every angle. They have been beset. Mrs. Vanderbilt's character and tried to ruin her as much as to be seen in public after the terrible things that were said about her."

A Mother Offers Sympathy to Gloria

MRS. VANDERBILT
Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, fighting for the custody of her daughter, Gloria, 10, was given encouragement by another mother, babe in arms, at the courtroom.

GIRL'S INJURIES BACK PLEA

Little Catherine Dulles, nine, of Eustis street, Roxbury, whose father ran for representative on a "more traffic lights" platform, was resting comfortably today in City Hospital where she is confined with a broken leg.

Ernest W. Dulles, the little girl's father, based his entire campaign for the nomination in Ward 8 on the charge that there were too few traffic lights in the district.

Catherine was crossing Blue Hill avenue at Dudley street. She was struck by an auto driven, police say, by Philip Cicciolo, of North street, Dorchester. One of her legs was broken, and Cicciolo took her to the hospital.

TRY AGAIN Couple Once Wed Will Remarry

Miss Marjorie Week, 20, will be the bride again tonight at the marriage of her own father and her own mother, with which they went 20 years ago.

William Week, 47, of Oak Bluffs, was separated from his former wife, Mrs. Annie M. Week Chapman, 45, in 1913, when Marjorie was nine. Mrs. Week, who lives in East Weymouth, then married Rose Chapman, who died four years ago.

Mrs. Marjorie Sinclair, mother of the bride, said that the appearance of the bride, said that the mother-in-law hungry didn't appear to affect Week. She said:

"He had me for a mother-in-law for 13 years, so he's had 11 years in which to think me over."

SHOCK VICTIM NEAR DEATH

Jonathan Perry, 63, of Shute street, Everett, chief engineer at the Massachusetts General Hospital, who collapsed a few minutes after addressing a meeting of 500 persons at Faneuil Hall, was reported to be in serious condition today.

Mrs. Blanche Davis, of Atlantic, gave him first aid.

The mass meeting was called to formulate a campaign for an organization to further the Townsend old-age pension plan. The discussion continued after Mr. Perry was taken to the hospital, but no definite action was agreed upon.

PEACE GUNS MARK HOUR WHEN WAR GUNS WERE STILLED

WAR ECHOES—Shattering the still air on the Common, Battery "A," 101st Field Artillery, re-echoes the war thunder of 16 years ago in saluting the heroic dead at the stroke of 11. Sixteen years have worked changes in men and cannon, but the scar of four years of bloody conflict is slow in healing and bids fair to be re-opened with murmurings of still another war in Europe. It is the sincere hope of everyone that this gun and its crew will not be called upon to play a grimmer part in world affairs. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

HURRAH! Little 3-year-old Ruth Donovan of Cambridge waves her flag in time with the music as she shouts encouragement to the weary Armistice Day marchers.

THEY LOVE A PARADE—People always come a-running when they hear the fanfare of bugles and beat of the drums that announce a parade is coming. This crowd eagerly cranes its collective neck to get a glimpse of war-scarred veterans in their colorful Legion uniforms and the "regulars" in their official O. D. garb as they swing along the route of the Armistice Day parade. Spontaneous cheers and applause greeted the various units as they marched by the most critical reviewers of all—the crowd—maintaining a cadence that would warm the heart of a West Point drill sergeant. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

SPEAKING FOR BOSTON. Veterans organizations and Armistice Day crowds on Boston Common are told by Mayor Mansfield that the city will never, if he can help it, forget its debt to men who offered their lives in the "war to end wars." The mayor, himself, is a veteran of the Spanish American War. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

SPEAKING FOR THE ARMY. The men who have to fight our wars are the most sincere of all advocates of peace, Brig. Gen. H. E. Knight, a speaker at Armistice Day exercises on the Common tells his hearers. Adequate preparedness, he said, is the best and only insurance against attack. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

"NO, THEY'LL NEVER LICK THE INFANTRY." Not in 100,000 years. And those 101st battle flags have seen a lot of country, Yank. You could shut your eyes and make believe it was the swinging march-step of the old outfit you're hearing. But this is a new 101st Infantry, parading on an Armistice Day—16 years after the November 11 you're remembering. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

HOW AIN'T HE LOVED AND LOST IN CHICAGO
Another Terrible Drama and Despatch From Her
Garden of Mis-Edibles

Ohooooo—
Where is the gent from Chicago,
The horse-face who wore such nice clothes?
It was love at first sight!
I turned left, he turned right—
"Toss touch luck, but it's life, I suppose
We met in the delicatessen—
He was proting the windows, so dear
He leaped over to look in the showcase.
We collided. I cried, "The ideal!"
"Can't a lady like me make a purchase?"
"Without being slammed like a door?"
"I might have dropped this bare bottle
And its contents split out on the floor!"
In a flash I regretted my anger.
As he straightened and lifted his hat!
"I'm sorry," he said, "I beg pardon!
Excuse it . . . regrets and all that."
He started to turn, but our eyes flashed
A message as old as the hills.
A feeling electric swept through me.
Up my spine . . . from my feet to my gills.
I managed to stammer and stutter,
And said, "Pleased to meet you!" I guess
He said, "What's your telephone number?"
I replied, "Six nine seven, Van Ness."

Ohooooo—
Why did he ask for my number
Unless he intended to . . . meet?
Years passed. I still long
To the lips that . . .
As I sit . . . all alone.
I never will forget that brief romance.
He had what I chose to call charm.
As we walked from the store to the corner
We laughed and we joked, arm in arm;
At the curb we both stopped for an instant.
As we gazed, he released his right grip.
I started across, then I realized
Prince Charming had given me the slip—
He had taken my hand to the left.
And now please consider my plight!
My hearting, eye bread, my leg kneecaps,
And my love swallowed up by the night!

Ohooooo—
Why did I trust in a stranger?
Why let him do as he please?
Why must he scream
With my heart and my ham,
Dill pickles and Camembert cheese?
